

Titanic Ventilator Inventory and Location Map

By Bob Read, D.M.D.

Introduction

The ventilator inventory and location map found in the reference "Titanic the Ship Magnificent" by Beveridge has not been updated since the revised edition was released a few years ago. This publication will serve as that update. Several new discoveries and revisions have been made since the revised edition and will be included here.

Historians have never discovered any kind of listing of Titanic's electrically powered ventilators. Since the earliest attempts at cataloging Titanic's ventilators, all the work has been done by studying photos and gaining insight from Titanic's sister ships, Olympic and Britannic.

The ventilator inventory and location map will be presented on the following page. The CAD drawings were made at 1:1 scale. A scale indicator has been provided near the copyright notice. On the ventilator location map, certain deck structures have been eliminated from the drawing to make visualizing the ventilators clearer.
